On August 14, 1985, the above-mentioned site was visited by Arlene Pratl and Steve Vevang of Ecology & Environment for the purpose of conducting a Site Inspection of the facility. At that time, it was noted that all hazardous waste handling, including above and below ground tanks, feed stocks, and by-products were RCRA permitted.

According to Steve Barker, Environmental Services coordinator for Sinclair and Valentine, there have been no spills or tank or drum leaks. The visual site inspection by this office did not indicate any areas where residue from a spill was apparent.

Sinclair & Valentine also has permits for vapor and dust collection equipment, solvent recovery machinery for reclamation of solvent - based wash - up materials, and a waste water discharge to the sewers.

Based on the available information, Sinclair & Valentine cannot be scored by the Hazardous Ranking System, since all waste generated is RCRA permitted and, therefore, not eligible for consideration.
